As if to shame the mightiest human efforts and achievements...As the redeemed people of God, please stand as you are able as we confess what we believe:

The infinite mercy of the almighty God comes to us in the form of a child, his son.

That this child has been born for us,

that this son has been given,

that this human child, this son of God, belongs to me;

Let the Earth Rejoice!

Texts & Translations

Waiting

Frederick Buechner

I think we are waiting. That is what is at the heart of it. Even when we don't know that we are waiting, I think we are waiting. Even when we can't find words for what we are waiting for, I think we are waiting. An ancient Advent prayer supplies us with the words. "Give us grace," it says, "that we may cast off the works of darkness and put upon us the armor of light." We who live much of the time in the darkness are waiting not just at Advent, but at all times for the advent of light, of that ultimate light that is redemptive and terrifying at the same time. It is redemptive because it puts an end to the darkness, and that is also why it is terrifying, because for so long, for all our lives, the darkness has been home, and because to leave home is always cause for terror...

So to wait for Christ to come in his fullness is not just a passive thing, a pious, prayerful, churchly thing. On the contrary, to wait for Christ to come in his fullness is above all else to act in Christ's stead as fully as we know how. To wait for Christ is as best we can to be Christ to those who need us to be Christ to them most and to bring them the most we have of Christ's healing and hope because unless we bring it, it may never be brought at all.

Now the Heavens Start to Whisper

Mary Louise Bringle

Now the heavens start to whisper,
as the veil is growing thin.
Earth from slumber wakes to listen, to the stirring, faint within:
Seed of promise, deeply planted, child to spring from Jesse's stem!
Like the soil beneath the frostline, hearts grow soft to welcome him.

Christ, eternal sun of justice,
Christ, the rose of wisdom's seed,
come to bless with fire and fragrance hours of yearning, hurt, and need.
In the lonely, in the stranger,
in the outcast, hid from view:
Child who comes to grace the manger,
teach our hearts to welcome you.

Comfort my people comfort your people my Lord speaking in my voice saying speak to the heart of Jerusalem tenderly in a voice embracing her call to her that her exile is over
Come home, the sentence is over that knocked the voice out of her...
Listen—a voice is calling to open a road through the desert clear a highway for the Lord straight through the desert and through your voice which is parched...
Stand up prophets and speak to Jerusalem your tired litany reawakens as poetry embrace her with good news speak to her, heart of Zion, from the top of the mountain let your voice rise to the mountains with the strength of love fearless headline of truth.

O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings to Zion from MESSIAH Isaiah 7:14, 40:9, & 60:1, adapted

Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Emmanuel—God with us.

O thou that tellest good tidings to Zion, get thee up into the high mountain:
O thou that tellest good tidings to Jerusalem, lift up thy voice with strength;
Lift it up, be not afraid; say unto the cities of Judah, Behold your God!
Arise, shine, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee.

Hodie Christus Natus Est

Antiphon for Christmas Day

Hodie Christus natus est:
Hodie Salvator apparuit: Hodie in terra canunt Angeli,
laetantur Archangeli
Hodie exsultant justi, dicentes:
Gloria in excelsis Deo.
Alleluia.

Today Christ is born:
Today the Savior appears:
Today the angels sing on earth,
and the Archangels rejoice.
Today the just exult, saying:
Glory to God in the highest.
Alleluia.

An Open Door

Pamela Cranston

(on a theme by D. Bonhoeffer)

Look how long
the weary world waited,
locked in its lonely cell,
guilty as a prisoner.
As you can imagine,
it sang and whistled in the dark.
It hoped. It paced and pattered about, tidying its little piles of inconsequence.
It wept from the weight of ennui,
draped like shackles on its wrists.
It raged and wailed against the walls of its own plight.

But there was nothing
the world could do
to find its own freedom.
The door was shut tight.
It could only be opened from the outside.
Who could believe the latch would be turned by a pink flower—
the tiny hand
of a newborn baby?

Fantasia on Christmas Carols

This is the truth sent from above,
The truth of God, the God of love;
Therefore don't turn me from your door,
But hearken all, both rich and poor.

The first thing, which I do relate,
That God at first did man create
The next thing, which to you I tell,
Woman was made with him to dwell.

Then after this, 'twas God's own choice
To place them both in Paradise,
There to remain from evil free
Except they ate of such a tree.

And they did eat, which was a sin,
And thus their ruin did begin;
Ruined themselves, both you and me,
And all of their posterity.

Thus we were heirs to endless woes,
Till God the Lord did interpose
For so a promise soon did run
That He'd redeem us with a Son.

Come all you worthy gentlemen
That may be standing by.
Christ our blessed Savior
Was born on Christmas day.

The blessed Virgin Mary
Unto the Lord did say,
O we wish you the comfort and tidings of joy!

Christ our blessed Savior
Now in the manger lay;
He's lying in the manger,
While the oxen fed on hay.

trad. English carols, adapt. R.V.W.

The blessed Virgin Mary...

God bless the ruler of this house,
And long on may he reign;
Many happy Christmases
He live to see again!

God bless our generation
Who live both far and near;
O we wish you the comfort and tidings of joy!

On Christmas night all Christians sing
to hear the news the angels bring;
on Christmas night all Christians sing
to hear the news the angels bring:
news of great joy, news of great mirth,
news of our merciful King's birth.

When sin departs before His grace,
then life and health come in its place;
when sin departs before His grace,
then life and health come in its place;
angels and men with joy may sing,
all for to see the newborn King.

From out of darkness we have light,
which made the angels sing this night;
all out of darkness we have light,
which made the angels sing this night:
"Glory to God and peace to men,
now and forevermore. Amen.

From its Roman Catholic origins, this 18th-century hymn has spread to worldwide use by many denominations in both Latin and vernacular versions. Once popular with a wide range of hymn texts, this tune is now firmly associated with this Christmas text from which it is named.

While Isaac Watts did not write this text strictly for Christmas use, he did purposely cast his paraphrase of Psalm 98:4-9 in Christian terms, titling it "The Messiah's coming and kingdom." So "the Lord" here is Jesus Christ, rather than the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.
