“See, now is the acceptable time; see, now is the day of salvation!” 2 Corinthians 6:2

Dear Friends,

One of the learnings from last summer’s sabbatical experience – which now seems a lifetime ago! – was the power and importance of “being in the moment.” Over and over, on long bike rides, walks, hiking the Camino de Santiago, the realization hit that I, like so many, tend to live in the future. What’s coming next? What do I need to do tomorrow? What if? That mindset, that way of being, stood in sharp contrast to those moments when I was paying attention to right now, not looking beyond the moment, enjoying and appreciating what was happening in the present. Those moments were gifts of God, times when the Spirit seemed near.

In this time of pandemic, I regularly find myself drifting away from the “now,” looking ahead, focusing on the future, often with a spirit of anxiety. In recent days, I’ve had a handful of conversations with members of this church, and with our staff, that tell me I’m not alone in this perspective. People who have been generally upbeat and optimistic are beginning to speculate that this situation could continue for a long time. Someone asked me about Christmas Eve services and how we would accommodate large crowds. People who have experienced loss aren’t sure what to do about memorial services for the foreseeable future. Weddings plans are being revised or postponed. Though live streaming worship is a decent alternative, almost all of us long for real community, gathering physically, and wonder when that might happen again.

I wish I had profound insight regarding a process or a program for living more of life in the now, being less anxious about tomorrow. If I did, I could write a mega best-seller, go on the (virtual) lecture circuit, and retire early to a home in the Rockies! What comes to mind is a popular expression that you’ve probably heard, one that encapsulates Jesus’ teaching and perspective on tomorrow: “I don’t know what the future holds, but I know who holds the future.” This pandemic highlights the truth that we don’t have nearly as much control as we thought we had, that we can’t guarantee the results that we desire, and that this moment, here and now, is what is given to us. Life is what happens today, not someday. The Spirit of the risen Christ is as close as our next breath. “I am with you always,” promises Jesus in Matthew’s Gospel. Our lives, and the life of the world, are held in gracious, loving hands.

Share your anxieties with someone you trust. Share your anxieties with the One who already knows them and with whom you can trust your very life. Make room for silence and a little alone time. “Stop, sit down, and shut up,” as a professor of mine once described prayer. Revel in the beauty of God’s creation. Immerse yourself in the gifts of art, literature, and music. Make the Psalms and other Scripture a regular part of your daily routine. Get out and move your body in whatever way you can. All of these, and more, are ways we can position ourselves to be more aware of the gracious presence of the living God right here and right now, to rest in the assurance of knowing who holds the future even as we accept that we don’t know what that future holds.

Grace and peace,
Steve

Second's Tech Crew Is Unstoppable ... JOIN US!

We are so grateful to those on our staff and our volunteers who help each Sunday to make both live and livestream happen!

For the past several weeks, we have relied on the expert skills of Elder Nicholas (Nick) Moloney. He has gotten to be quite the cameraman, and serves with care. He has been a God-send, and has allowed our pastoral/ministry team to concentrate on other parts of the service.

We welcome Evan Vivic as our new Audiovisual Technician. Evan is Assistant Principal Violist with the Louisville Orchestra, and has his own recording studio, Evan Vivic Productions. Along with being an extraordinary performer, Evan brings a keen eye and ear for both audio production and video. He has helped our livestream services to sparkle, and we are so thankful for his generous spirit and enthusiasm. We also love his wife, Laura, who has also played viola for us at Second. The Vivics are members of the SelfDistancing Quartet, a Facebook sensation!

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN JOINING our video/audio team, please contact Virginia Fortner, Worship and Music Assistant, at vfortner@2ndpreslou.org. We need as many volunteers for rotations each week. (Nick would love to be able to sleep in a bit more before school begins!)

Second Says Goodbye to Sid Hill

Sid Hill, our bass section leader, soloist, and Octet member has, just recently retired from service at Second Presbyterian. He has been thinking and praying about this a long time, and his recent bout with COVID-19 helped clarify his decision. Sid has served faithfully at Second Presbyterian as soloist and section leader, and has been someone on whom this music ministry has relied for steady leadership and example.

Sid received a Master of Church Music degree from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in 2000, and a Bachelor of Music degree in Voice Performance from Furman University. He participated as a soloist in works such as Beethoven's Symphony No. 9 (under the baton of Robert Shaw), Verdi's Requiem, Mozart's Requiem, Handel's Messiah, Haydn's Creation and "Lord Nelson" Mass, Bach's Magnificat in D, and Mendelssohn's Elijah, which he also sang at Second.

Sid and his wife, Christina, are healthy, and plan to join our music and church family on occasion. You are welcome to send cards directly to Sid at his home address: 928 Fenley Ave., Louisville, KY 40222.

We are blessed to have such amazing, gifted people like Sid in our tapestry of music ministry.

WE WILL MISS YOU,

Paula Roberts!

August & September Sermon Series

Our worship this summer has explored the meaningful ways the 12 Steps of addiction recovery intersect and illuminate the everyday living out of our faith. We will finish out the last three steps this month with these emphases:

- August 2 - Perseverance - Genesis 32:22-31
- August 9 - Spirituality - Matthew 6:7-13
- August 16 - Service - 2 Cor 5:16-21

stories i thought i knew ...

rediscovering the rich stories of the bible

aug. 23 - sept. 27

On August 23 we will begin a new six-week series, "Stories I Thought I Knew." Most of us have grown up having practically memorized the scriptural stories in the Old and New Testaments (some of us from felt boards, others from "Veggie Tales"). We will explore with new eyes these rich stories of our faith, and learn how our new understanding can inform how we live out our commitment to God.

Guidelines for Use of Church Building

Second Presbyterian Church is allowing committees and other small groups to meet on site if they so choose. The following stipulations apply:

- The group leader must schedule the meeting ahead of time with Pastoral Assistant Lisa Bickett at (502) 895-3483, ext. 218.
- Meetings will be held in Rooms 251, 252, and Fellowship Hall.
- Gatherings will be staggered so as not to place undo burdens on our cleaning staff.
- Each group will have an identified leader/contact person, and that information will be given to Lisa Bickett when the reservation is made.
- Number of occupants for each room is dependent on current social distancing orders. That figure will fluctuate according to current conditions.
- Participants will enter through door #2, the "office door" facing Walgreen's, and will exit through the same door at the end of the meeting.
- Upon entering, participants will wear a mask, have their temperature taken by the group leader (device provided by the church), and register their attendance.

Thank you for your continuing efforts to be responsible and to love your neighbor in these practical ways.

Rocky Railway Express Was a Great Success!!

We ended our summer-long digital Vacation Bible School on July 24, 2020, where we learned Bible points and stories that will help us through these long and trying times. Approximately 25 children participated for five weeks this summer learning that Jesus' power helps us do hard things, gives us hope, helps us be bold, helps us be good friends and lets us live forever in heaven.

Each week participants would receive a "Stay on Track Pack." Each pack had materials for the week that would coincide with daily videos sent via email. Each week consisted of rotations such as Sing & Play Express, Bible Adventures, Imagination Station (science), Kidvid Cinema, Craft & Play, and Rocky Wrap-up. Bible stories taught us about Peter and Paul and how the early church was started. Bible Buddies such as a big horned sheep named Ramsay, a red-tailed hawk named Ava, a mountain lion named Sierra, a rainbow trout named Finn, and an elk named Lawrence Elk were there to act as guides. Also, helping us to remember to trust Jesus was Billy the Billy goat. Craft and Play and Imagination Station were some of the favorite rotations. Patrick McNally is showing off his "Off Rail Roller" from Imagination station. From the "Craft & Play" rotation, Ava Young is sporting her re-creation of Ava the Red-Tailed Hawk and Norah Steigerwalt shows us her Billy puppet reminding us to "Trust Jesus"!

Transforming Your Relationships Using the Enneagram

Most humans engage daily with family, friends, neighbors, and/or co-workers. Sometimes these relationships are warm and rewarding, while other times they are confusing and full of conflict.

One tool that has helped countless people improve relationships with themselves and others is the Enneagram. Synthesizing modern psychological insights with a variety of ancient religious traditions, the Enneagram maps out nine fundamental personality types and explains their complex interrelationships. The Enneagram is trendy now, but it has served as a reliable spiritual growth method for hundreds of years.

Nina Maples, Associate Pastor for 20 years at Highland Baptist Church, now a therapist and a certified Enneagram teacher, will lead this eight-week course for our church beginning Sunday, September 13 through and including November 1. Each class will last for 1.5 hours and run 1:30-3 p.m. Classes will be held via Zoom. Participants will be asked to pay $25 (scholarships available) and need to know their Enneagram number before classes begin. To help determine your Enneagram number, please read The Wisdom of the Enneagram by Don Richard Riso and Russ Hudson and/or take a $12 test at www.enneagraminstitute.com.

Reserve your spot for "Transforming Your Relationships Using the Enneagram" by mailing your check, payable to Nina Maples, to:

Sharon Stern
3340 Green Hill Lane
Louisville KY 40207-1828

We need payment no later than September 4.

For questions, contact Sharon via email sharonstern502@gmail.com or text (502) 741-5857.

A Note of Thanks and Farewell

Dear Second Presbyterian Church family,

For those who do not yet know...I have news! On July 12, 2020, the congregation of Immanuel Presbyterian Church in Milwaukee, Wisconsin unanimously elected me as their next Associate Pastor for Christian Formation and Congregational Life. I am simply delighted to be joining the team at Immanuel and to begin serving in Milwaukee alongside members of the church! Seeking a pastoral call during a pandemic added another layer of complexity to the already-complex call process, but finding my new church was absolutely worth the wait.

Of course, an exciting "hello" to Immanuel means a very difficult "goodbye" to Second Presbyterian Church. I could have never imagined how much being a part of the life of this church would transform me and my ministry when I came alongside you two years ago. Thank you for your encouragement, affirmation, challenge, and for giving me a place to grow and spread my wings. A little bit of me will be staying with you, my Kentucky church family, and a little bit of you is coming with me to Wisconsin.

Growing alongside this congregation would not have been possible without the love and dedication of the church's staff. I am especially grateful for Jordan, my dear seminary friend and now lifelong ministry colleague; Jim, who has broadened my imagination of what a faith-filled music ministry looks like; Steve, who has been a model of authentic love and grace-filled leadership; and my supervisor, Nathan, whose challenge, nurture, and friendship has shaped my pastoral identity in immeasurable ways.

Though my relationship with Second will look different moving into the future, I rejoice in knowing that there is nothing that can separate the bonds we share in Christ. It has been an honor to share in the Spirit's work through Second - to be transformed with you, and by you. Should you ever be in Milwaukee, please come find me at Immanuel! I would love to see you and share about how the seeds of my ministry planted at Second continue to blossom as my next chapter begins.

May God's abounding peace, joy, and love be with you until we meet again.

Seminary/Summer Intern

Grief Groups to Start in August

Traditionally, when we think of grief, we think of the feelings of loss, anger, and denial we have when someone close to us has died. But loss can come from many other situations - retirement, physical limitations due to aging or medical conditions, divorce, caring for a loved one who is ill, and many others.

Beginning in late August we will have two separate grief groups, one for those who are grieving the loss of a loved one and a separate group for people experiencing grief due to other situations in their lives.

Each group will meet once a month for six to eight months. At least in the beginning, we will meet via Zoom.

We will talk about the stages of grief and many of the feelings and thoughts people have as they work through grief. There is no "right" way to grieve. Everyone grieves in their own way, but it can be helpful to share with others who are traveling the same road.

If you are interested in joining either group, contact Elizabeth Clay, (502) 409-3230 or eclay412@gmail.com.

Refugee Summer Updates

Greetings from our refugees! All of our new friends are surviving the Covid challenge and are lucky to be working when so many of Kentucky Refugee Ministries' (KRM) families are being challenged economically. Your generous donations to Second's Covid-19 Emergency Fund have helped many established refugees in the Louisville area. KRM has also appreciated your support for ongoing programs and employee salaries.

There is good news from Genereuse and Immaculee's family (below right)! Their sister, Judith Nyabeyi (below, center), returned from Rwanda Thursday, July 9. She traveled there December 28 to marry her long time fiancé and had been unable to return for months due to Covid-19. The family is ecstatic to have her home with them again! She is well and her husband, Tito, is working to get to the U.S. when immigration regulations allow.

Nedal (bottom right) continues his work at UPS. He and his sister Rawan are thankful for their larger apartment. They are becoming an active part of the community. He has now celebrated his second 4th of July in Louisville.

Ekyochi Nam'mbembe (left, top) and her son Juma Abasi (left, center) are well and getting to know their neighbors. Juma's father is in the area and helps with babysitting when Ekyochi goes for groceries or job interviews. She is scheduled for a job orientation at Cushman and Wakefield commercial real estate company to do cleaning at the site. She's very excited about the job opportunity!

News about our anticipated Afghani family is scant. They have received their medical papers required by the State Department; all other papers are complete and we are waiting to hear about travel. Their travel plans across Afghanistan will be a challenge. Please pray for their safe passage to Pakistan.

Thanks for all you do. Your support is always invaluable!

Ground Is Broken for New Chapel at Cedar Ridge Camp

by Jerry Van Marter, Mid-Kentucky Presbytery Stated Clerk | Special to Presbyterian News Service

Original article can be found in its entirety at www.presbyterianmission.org/story/ground-is-broken-for-new-chapel-at-cedar-ridge-camp/

Nearly 50 mask-wearing, health-screened, socially-distanced friends, board members and staff of Cedar Ridge Camp, a ministry of Mid-Kentucky Presbytery, gathered recently to celebrate groundbreaking for the 60-year-old camp's new chapel.

The 2,400 square-foot chapel is the first new construction at the camp in many years, except for the camp office building several years ago. "I always felt a little guilty about building our office first," said Camp Director the Rev. Andrew Hartmans. Construction is scheduled to take about a year at an estimated cost of $750,000.

The new chapel will be a beacon of faith and hope, Hartmans said. "This space is something special, a gift to the community," he said. "Look how many worship spaces are being sold and turned into restaurants or other businesses or simply left unused or torn down. Here is something new for the glory of God!"

Individuals who have donated money, time and prayers "are crucial to making this dream a reality," Rev. Peggy Hinds said. "They will be remembered for their generosity and foresight in helping to create a sacred space where people will gather and worship for generations to come."

Covid-19 Emergency Mission Fund Update

The Mission Committee created the Covid-19 Emergency Mission Fund in April as a way to provide financial resources to our mission partners locally and internationally as they seek to provide food, housing and clothing to some of the most vulnerable in our community. Many of our partners are seeing increased need and 2nd Presbyterian has been able to faithfully meet those needs. As of the end of July we have raised $59,500 from the congregation and Session has set aside another $75,000 from our budget and cash reserves for a total of $134,500 for our partners. What an amazing gift of "sharing God's grace with those around us!" At right is a list of all the partners that have received support to date. You can also check the website 2ndpreslou.org/covid-19 for video messages from our partners and to give to the fund.
