Reflections

Dear Friends,

While scrolling through the Sunday New York Times online, a headline caught my eye: “Internet Church Isn’t Church.” The author’s argument in the opinion piece was nothing radical. She simply stated that while live-streaming and other electronic options can be positive and helpful tools, the full and rich Christian life requires face-to-face contact, being with others in a real, not virtual, community. Or, to use the language of an early Christian writer, the Christian alone is not a Christian.

Then I made the mistake of reading some of the more than 150 comments to the piece. A handful were complimentary and in agreement. The bulk of the comments was pure vitriol, a collection of angry, belittling, dismissive attacks on the very idea of church, the characterization of faith in God as immature and delusional, the assumption that all pastors and church leaders are simply out to fleece the flock and to gain power.

I realize that many of those who read the Times are not your down home, Bible-believing types. I’m aware of the bias against all things institutional in our society right now. I know that compared to the west and east coasts of this country, we live in a kind of religion “bubble” where a fairly significant number of people value their faith, seek to follow God’s way, love and support their church, and are convinced that one can be a person of intellect and learning and still believe and trust in God. I know all of that, but something about these comments was troubling.

I wasn’t angered or offended by the stereotypical atheistic arguments made by some of the writers or by the stale arguments that say we don’t have to be in a faith community to be “spiritual,” but that we can find “God” anywhere. Mostly, what I felt was sadness. Sadness that so many people today, according to dozens of major studies, are not finding community any place. So many have not had the experience of growing up in a real community of flawed, loving people who accept, shape, encourage and support each other. Sadness that so many confuse the Christian faith with TV preachers and angry, judgmental, unthinking, self-righteous bigots. So many have never been exposed to a thinking, open, inviting faith.

But, finally, what I felt most strongly was gratitude. Gratitude for the gift of community as a child and throughout my life, for loving and caring mentors who have shown me the shape of the truly good life, for learning early on that worshipping God doesn’t mean checking your brain at the door, for being part of churches, including this one, where people wrestle with what it means to follow Jesus and take that following seriously, while not taking themselves overly seriously.

As a pastor friend has said, we Presbyterians do an excellent job of keeping our way of being Christian a secret from most people! In gratitude for the gift we have been given, let us in this new year resolve to offer that gift to someone who doesn’t want to sit alone in front of a screen and longs to find true, lasting community in a place like this.

Grace and peace,

Rev. Steve Jester

Thanks to Doug Scott for sharing about our partner ministry, and his story. Our generous audience collected $2,000 as an offering for the good folks at Healing Place. Additional thanks to our Concert Series Committee for putting on an innovative coffee-house-style reception. Glory to God!

On February 5, at 10 a.m. in the church parlor, we will discuss the latest book by acclaimed author Doris Kearns Goodwin, entitled "Leadership-In Turbulent Times".

She has researched the backgrounds, abilities and temperaments of four presidents - Abraham Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt, Franklin Roosevelt and Lyndon Johnson - four very different men and how they each were able to effectively lead our country during difficult times. Susanne Wright and Ellie Moore will review this interesting study of complex leaders.

March 5 will be "Unsheltered" by Barbara Kingsolver.

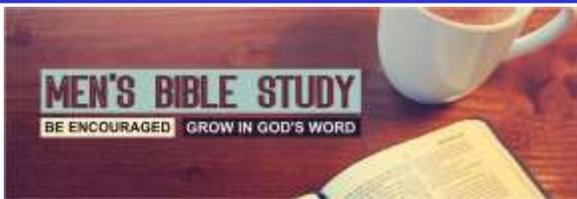

We faithfully support UCHM food closet.

Busy Needles members model some of the pocket scarves

The Busy Needle members knitted and crocheted pocket scarves as Christmas gifts for Second members who are currently in nursing homes or home bound. We wanted these folks to know we are thinking of them and wanted to show our love by sharing our items with them.

Members look forward to delivering our gifts to these special friends.

Missions at Second

FEBRUARY MISSION OF THE MONTH

One of Second's longest and most appreciated mission partners is UCHM. This ministry has been an important part of community life since 1974. It is located at 150 S. State Street and provides emergency assistance, senior services, youth programs, and a community activity room. Families in Crescent Hill, Clifton, Clifton Heights, and Butchertown receive food assistance, utility assistance, meals delivered to seniors, and youth learning programs (including a summer camp).

Second Presbyterian provides strong financial assistance and volunteers. We also provide a weekly food delivery of donated items to UCHM from Fresh Market. You can help enormously by contacting us for volunteer opportunities and by filling our bags during the month of February with requested housekeeping and personal items. Bags will be available at church after Sunday services. Please return the filled bags to the Mission Room.

Needed items are:

Size 4, 5, 6 diapers, baby formula, baby powder, men's and women's toiletries (deodorant, body wash, lotion), denture care items, toothbrushes, floss, shelf stable milk, toilet paper, and cleaning items.

Please plan to help if you can. If you would like to help with Fresh Market delivery, contact chris.ellis215@gmail.com. We look forward to working with you. You can make a big difference in a lot of lives!

Mission Committee

Addiction to drugs and alcohol is a blight on our country. Addiction is a disease. Addicts are great con artists and survive for long periods with their disease. Then they hit the wall with no family, friends, or money to go on. It is either death or jail unless they are lucky enough to find The Healing Place. They are welcomed to stay for the 6-9 months it takes to recover from their disease, at no cost to them. Since it is well known it is hard for an addict to con another addict, their teachers are addicts who have been through the recovery at The Healing Place and elected to stay as teachers and counselors (appropriately named "peer mentors"). The clients learn self-respect and responsibility. They study the 12-step Big Book and go to class. Three times a week they go to Community where they admit their own short-comings and speak out about a client they fear is not taking the recovery process seriously enough. Everyone works. From day one they have a job in security, laundry, housekeeping, kitchen (preparing the one million meals they served last year), bookkeeping, etc. The cost to care for one client is approximately $25 a day. The women's center can house 250 clients and the new men's center is up to 426 clients. Because of this unique approach, the results obtained by the Recovery Center Outcomes at the University of Kentucky show that 75% of Healing Place clients have not had a relapse in one year. Because of the "world leading" statistic, The Healing Place has been replicated in 14 other sites in Kentucky as well as in Raleigh, NC, Richmond, VA, and Wilmington, NC.

Our church has been involved since the beginning. Several of our members served on the original Board of Directors and subsequent boards. Many members have done pro bono professional work and volunteering. Clothes, supplies, and money have been donated generously. Because of our help, 2nd was awarded the Celebrate Freedom Award last year, which is their highest annual award.

In a recent sermon, Steve talked about joy. Just raising your hands toward the sky and shouting because you're happy. It can happen. It would happen to all of us if we went to school for 6-7 months and came out with a new life where family, friends, a job you could keep, self-respect, and responsibility were all part of the new you.

A Word of Hope
Monthly Meditation
"I Hear Music in the Air"
 Rev. Dr. Maxine L. Thomas, Director

"And suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and filled all the house where they were sitting." Acts 2:2

Woman and Man of grace and knowledge, there is a wind in the air. Can't you hear it? Somebody penned the words, "Over my head I hear music in the air... and there must be a God somewhere."

What do you hear? Perhaps you hear the words of sons and daughters of former slaves to the tune of, "Nobody knows the trouble I've seen." I know you've seen some trouble in your day. It wasn't a master with a whip, or flying white sheets in the night brightened by the glare of angry flames surrounding a cross that liberates. But you've seen trouble in your day.

Every one of us has had some hills to climb and some valleys to walk through. The Bible says, "Man that is born of a woman is of a few days, and full of trouble." (Job 14:1) If you live long enough trouble will sure enough knock at your door. It rains on the just and the unjust. (Matthew 5:45) I beg your pardon, who has promised you that life would be a rose garden?

But hush... I hear something in the air. There were some folk in the upper room and the Bible says that they were all in one place and they were in one accord. If you want God to move in your midst, I dare you to grab another believer by the hand. The Bible says, "... if two of you shall agree on earth as touching anything that they shall ask, it shall be done for them of my Father which is in heaven." (Matthew 18:19) I dare you to touch and agree with your brother and sister in the Lord. Sis, there is a moving and a shaking in the spiritual realm.

The Bible says that suddenly there came a sound as a rushing wind from heaven. The Holy Spirit filled the house! Bless the wonderful name of Jesus! The permeating presence of God's Spirit, of the overflow of God's power into the life and being of a believer is like music in the air. It's a melody of love divine; for when God's power fills the temple—you are aware that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost? (Corinthians 6:19) You can love those who despitefully use you. When the Wind of God... the Aruah... the Pneuma... the Holy Ghost fills the temple, there is a melody of strength and might. It's a strong sound; for "... He is the saving strength of His anointed." (Psalm 28:8) It's a sound in the air that causes demons to tremble. It's a sound in the air that drowns out oppression, depression, and obsession. It's a sound that will bring peace, power and prosperity. It's a sound that will fill your lonely nights and make everything all right. It's a sound that will out-roar the sound of the winds of despair and the waves of tribulation. It's a sound that shatters unbelief and mends broken hearts. And I hear music in the air!

HS Ski Trip

God's Plan

“For I know the plans I have for you says the Lord, plans for your welfare and not for harm, to give you hope and a future.” - Jeremiah 29:11

As the snow came down on Western New York over MLK weekend, 22 high school youth and eight adults enjoyed the fresh powder during our annual ski trip. We spent our time in worship and discussion thinking about this verse. How do we know God's plan for our lives? How do we discern where God is leading us? To help guide us, we looked at the story of Jonah and Jeremiah and they way each of them responds to God's call on their lives. Jonah chooses to run away from God's call while Jeremiah chooses to do what God asks of him. In both cases it was a difficult decision.

If we're honest, following God's way is a difficult task so we must not do it alone. This is the good news of both of these stories from Scripture, that we never walk alone and we never make our decisions alone. Who do you ask for advice when you need to make a decision? Do you invite God into that decision making? God does have a plan for you and for all of our young people and as the snow came down we listened once again for God's voice to speak. May we listen and respond.
